The negro, who piloted a yacht for the brothers on a camping trip, shot them in the back, the alleged confession said, because they forced him to dance at the point of a gun. One was shot, the negro is alleged to have confessed, as he was butchering a pig some distance from the camp. The other was killed, he said, a short time later at another place.

UNITED STATES ISSUES EMPHATIC PROTEST TO WARRING NATIONS

Publication by the State Department of the texts of the notes ent Wednesday to Great Britain and Germany, respectively, reveals that both countries had been warned in most emphatic terms against menacing the vessels or lives of American citizens traversing the recently proclaimed sea zones of war.

Germany was advised that the United States "would be constrained to hold the imperial government to a strict accountability" for such acts of its naval authorities as might result in the destruction of American vessels or loss of American lives, and that if "such a deplorable situation should arise" the American government would "take any steps it might be necessary to safeguard American lives and property."

To Great Britain the United States pointed out "the measure of responsibility" which would seem to be imposed

This provides the transport of the critical possibilities discussed in them.

Philomets Interested the imperial government to a strict accountability" for such acts of its deplorable situation should arise" the bility" which would seem to be imposed on the British government "for the lose of American vessels and lives in case of an attack by a German naval force' if England sanctioned the general misise of the American flag by British essels and thereby cast doubt upon the valid character of neutral ensigns

Diplomats Interested.

Diplomats examined with great in terest the language of the communi-cations, and some of them construed he note to Germany as a warning that the loss of American lives by sinking even a belligerent merchant ship would be covered by the representations of the American government because of the insistence that all merchant ships must be visited and searched and pas-sengers taken off before ships can be sunk.

sented, respectively, to the British government by Ambassador Page and the German foreign office by Ambassador Gerard. They were prepared by Counselor Robert Lansing and revised by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, after consultation with the entire cabinet.

The British, Spanish and Brazilian ambassadors, who happened to call at the State Department, were given copies of the notes, as were the ministers of Sweden, Norway and Denmark,

United States' Duty Asserted.

"The government of the United States views those possibilities with such grave concern that it feels it to be its privilege, and indeed its duty in the circumstances, to request the imperial German government to consider before action is taken in the critical situation in respect of the relation between this country and German which might arise were the German naval forces, in carrying out the policy foreshadowed in the admirality's proclamation, to destroy any merchant vessel of the United States or couse the death of American citizens.

Safeguarding of Lives Enjoined.

"If such a deplorable situation should arise the imperial German government can readily appreciate that the government of the United States would be constrained to hold the imperial German government to a strict accountability for such acts of their naval authorities and to take any steps it might be necessary to take to safeguard American lives and property and to secure to American citizens the full enjoyment of their acknowledged rights on the high seas.

"The government of the United States, in view of these considerations, which it urges with the greatest respect and with the sincere purpose of making sure that no misunderstanding may arise and no circumstances occur that might even cloud the intercourse of the two governments, expresses the confident hope and expectation that the imperial German government can and will give assurance that American citizens and their vessels will not be molested by the naval forces of Germany otherwise than by visit and search, though their vessels may be traversing the sea area delimited in the proclamation of the German admiralty.

"It is added for the information of the imperial government that representations have been made to his Britannic majesty's government in respect to the unwarranted use of the American flag for the protection of British ships."

AMERICA SENDS WARNING

TO HOLD GERMANY ACCOUNTABLE.

"If the commanders of German vessels of war should act upon the presumption that the flag of the United States was not being used in good faith and should destroy on high seas an American vessel or the lives of American citizens, it would be difficult for the government of the United States to view the act in any other light than as an indefensible violation of neutral rights which it would be very hard indeed to reconcile with the friendly relations now so happily subsisting between the two governments. .

"If such a deplorable situation should arise, the imperial German government can readily appreciate that the government of the United States would be constrained to hold the imperial German government to a strict accountability for such acts of their naval authorities and take any steps it might be necessary to take to safeguard American lives and property and to secure to American citizens the full enjoyment of their acknowledged rights on the high seas."-American note to Ambassador Gerard.

CAUTION URGED ON ENGLAND.

"The government of the United States, therefore, trusts that his majesty's government will do all in their power to restrain vessels of British nationality from the deceptive use of the flag of the United States in the sea area defined in the German declaration, since such practice would greatly endanger the vessels of a friendly power navigating those waters and would even seem to impose upon the government of Great Britain a measure of responsibility for the loss of American lives and vessels in case of an attack by a German naval force.

"You will impress upon his majesty's government the grave concern which the government feels in the circumstances in regard to the safety of American vessels and lives in the war zone declared by the German admiralty."-American note to Ambassador Page.
